Excerpt: .and took hounds into Bentley Wood, and then out on the far side. The pack were now reduced to very slow hunting, and finally threw up just below High Cross House, and, although Mr. Brand cast them towards Little Horstead, they could never speak the line again. A great deal of country was now drawn blank; in fact, the Master did not a second time succeed in finishing, so the word was at length given for home. On Friday the meet was at Poyning's Cross Roads, and, although my horse was saddled and bridled in readiness for this fixture, I fairly turned tail at the last moment and declined to go. In mitigation of this confession of weakness, I may say that a biting northerly wind was driving before it clouds of snow, which it was scarcely fair to ask any horse to face. I was informed that some half-dozen hardy riders did, however, turn up at the meet, and that their reward consisted of a few hours hunting in the neighbouring woodlands. Point to point races and steeplechases are generally associated in one's mind with clouds of dust, ground too hard for comfortable jumping, and picnics in which iced champagne and other cooling drinks play a prominent part. How different was the scene on Saturday, when the Southdown point to point races were held, for the weather was much the same as that of Friday, which I have already...
