Excerpt from The History of the Valorous Witty Knight-Errant, Vol. 2 of 3: Don Quixote of the Mancha Cardenio and the curate had not taken him away, he would doubtlessly have finished the war of the giant; and get with all this did not the poor knifght awake, until the arber brought in a great kettle full 0 cold water from the well, and threw it all at a clap upon him, and therewithal Don Quixote awaked, but not in such sort as he perceived the manner wherein he was. Dorothea, seeing how short and how thin her champion was arrayed, would not go in to see the con?ict of her combatant and his adversary. Sancho went up and down the ?oor searching for the giant s head, and seeing that he could not hnd it he said, Now I do see very well that all the things of this house are enchantments, for the last time that I was here, in this very same room, I got many blows and buffets, and knew not who did strike me, nor could I see...
